Australian May Enter the Ring at 165 Pounds-Warm Breezes at Carson and a Sheriff Who Knows His Daties-Latest Gossip from the Training Quarters.

Carron, Nev. Feb. 25 .- A warm breeze set in from the southeast last night, and this evening sleights were packed away in aretouses and the injunction "Don't turn too short" was forgotten. By Sunday clean, dry toads are promised.

Fitzsimmons played a comic role this morning for the edification of some 400 citizens who followed him to the postoffice, where he called for his mail. Cameras were planted at every corner of the building to catch the Australian as he stepped out, but Bob was wary and hid inside for more than an honr. Finding the snap-shotters were disposed to camp on their cameras all day if necessary, the Cornishman tried a flying leap, through a rear window, eight feet from the ground. A nimble reporter caught him in the air; another snapped him as he struck the ground, a third bore down on him in the act of sprinting away, and when the tanky pugilist tembled head foremost into a deep ditch a dozen lenses were trained in his direction. The spectators screamed at the farce and Bob, shaking the snow from his clothing, fled for Cook's Ranch at top speed, followed by a shower of snow balls. Fitzsinguous worked indoors three hours before noon today, bag-penching, sparring and wreating. Bob wants to try handball, but his handlers want him to let well enough alone and stick to his buttons.

From a reliable source it was learned that the Australian's weight is less than 165 pounds, and that he will enter the ring soughlighter than most people imagine A gentleman who should know is authority for the statement that Fitzsimmons was not above the middleweight limit when he last net Peter Maber, although he was reported to be much heavier.

"He was a matured man when he fought Jack Dempsey," this man argues, "and peo-ple of this build and temperature seldom take on weight. Pob could easily get down to 155 pounds by March 17 (finecessary, and still retain his strength. Most of his hattles nave been fought at that weight, and he does to care to Jeopardize his chances by puting on too much beef. If I'e tights at 165 e should be at his best."

Out of consideration for Jeffries' nerves orbett took the youngster in hand this norming in private. Speaking of the tryset, Jim said. "The boy is clever, quick on his feet, gime, and strong as a glant. He kept me on the move every minute and took his medicine without finching. In my opinion, he is a corker."

Corbett is pleased to have George Green with him again. "That boy can stand note purishment than any man in the " remarked the champion to group of reporters this afternoon.

Jim was given all the work he wanted oday. Two crack handball players from the Olympic Club came up this morning to assist Joe Carbett, who injured one of his fingers yesterday. Green gave his mentor a short but spirited rally, and Woods pranced about for thirty minutes. lodging straight panches and left jabs. The ouncining bag-was not neglected, and the wrist machine was twisted about as usual Jack McVey took a sun bath for a few min ates about moob but is not yet equal to mrd work. Dal Hawkins will be installed a Shaw's Springs tomorrow under Billy Deloney is the happiest man about the place. To Referee Siler today be confided his opinion that Jim was tigger, stronger and quicker than ever before. "Nine months ago," he asserted, "Corbett was beefy and singuish. I could not coax him to train for the Sharkey fight at all. The result of that contest opened his eyes n this city at the outbreak of the Civil | then, as his present condition has opened mine. My task will be easy and, mark me, I am with the winner, Speriff Kinney and Referee Siler met on the street this afternoon and were introduced.

Siler, as the sheriff walked away. "I prelet one of the most culedy gatherings in at arona that ever assembled at a prize ight. See if I min't a prophet." Martin John Conight (eccived a telegran Wall street will respond to the Cuban news this mothing. An old speculator has made this estimate of the situation for this column. "The thing has gone so far now that there is no possibility of the market's escaping a drop of something like two points. But that is all, except in the event of war, when the fall night be five points. There is a strong built last two weeks, good, under ordinary cir constances, to fast several weeks longer. perhaps, and for several points' rise There will be no punic on the street in any event. The United States is too strong for any protext for a successful bear raout of possible or even actual war. Sell stocks if you can get in at the opening prices for a temporary drop. Then buy again when the flurry is over. We have not yet, by any means, seen the highest priess of the spring " However, one would best be wary of tor The extent of the effect of war news is mediatery, and every hour now has its icute possibilities, we should see a chimp. There is, moreover, a strong feeling in the street that the McKinley asiministra tion. If it is left to take up the Cuban matter where it is now, will be agaressive This idea is likely to prevent any rally from now till the new occupie get inif Cieveland and Olney force us to flagrant inactivity. The whole situation is one strongly to discourage speculation, except as the rankest kind of a gamble. The market yesterday was character ized by its extreme duliness and by the recent usual absence of any other than professional trading. Early transaction showed slight improvements in prices, but the news from here early in the day that the Sepate had refused to let the Cuban question go over soon started prices the other way. All through the list there were concessions to the bears of from 1-4 to 1 1-4, the more active securities faring worse. Any individual favorable indications, and there are several stocks showing them at present must, of course, be received with the portentiality of the situation always in mind.

The story comes from a good source that Manhattan is likely to pay its regular 1-1-2 dividend. A director of the company states it as his opinion that Russell Sage's views ou the dividend question do not find general acceptance in the board of directors

Dow. Jones & Co. say of leather, "Mr. James Fraser, a heavy stockholder in the positive company, says that since the foundation of the company it has brought the quality of leather up to a high degree of excellency, and is now manufacturing better goods and cheaper than before the formation of the company. It has a good stock on hand, having bought hides at very low prices. The stock of the company on hand is as cheap as it has been bought in the last forty years, and in view of this the outlook for business this year is as promising as at any time since the formation of the company. The sales of leather of late have been heavy Foreigners are good buyers and the de mand is equal to the supply. The company very year charges a certain amount off for depreciation. Mr. Fraser predicts one best years in the history of the company."

The tobacco investigation did not go early as far as had been expected, in view of attempts which have been made by rival tobacco interests to harass the American Tobacco Company in and out of court. The insiders were apparently aware that this would be the situation, as they are credited with having been buyers for the last few days, and the cause of the rise during every day of the investigation. However, now that the Lexow matter is over, a small drop may be expected.
